

PROCEEDINGS OF
MONETT CITY COUNCIL

The mayor and commissioners of the city of Monett met in their monthly business session, Tuesday afternoon.

It was voted to raise the salary of W. R. Rogers, the street sweeper, from $60 to $65 per month. An ordinance was passed ratifying and confirming the act of the mayor in employing Philip B. Davis, a competent accountant of the city of Monett, to examine and audit the books of the various city officers. The report of Philip Davis for auditing the city books from September 1, 1919 to December 31, 1919 was read and accepted.

An ordinance was passed employing D. S. Mayhew and D. H. Kemp to assist the city attorney in prosecuting the suit of the City of Monett as plaintiff against M. E. Gillioz, et al, defendants, to recover the sum of $2,170.40 from said defendants on alleged breach of bond to maintain the city reservoir without the need of repairs during the life of said bond. The ordinance was filed the second day of March for public inspection.

The various officers filed reports of February business. Edgar Masoner, city electric light and water superintendent, reported that the transmission service was off on February 1, for a short time on account of trouble at the power house. On February 21 the power was off thirty minutes on account of over-heated choke coils on the switchboard. During the month there were forty-eight street lights put in and street light service was extended one light west on West Kale. One new street bracket was put on Marshall Hill and one at the standpipe. The department extended the light service to ten new patrons, including drop lines and meters. They set one pole on West Kale street and extended the service to two houses.

In the water department they installed five new meters, repaired two and set two new meter boxes. A number of water meters were tested and found in good order. The superintendent found a number of leaks and reported same to property owners. All the city pumps are reported in good condition.

The police department had only one case in court during the month, which was a case of speeding, charged against a young man who collided with the fire truck at the corner of Ninth and Bond streets. The defendant was released on payment of $14.15 for the repair of the fire truck.
